The forecasted daily crude requirement for Refineries which is Seven Hundred and Seventy Thousand, Five Hundred Barrels (770,500 Bopd), is about 37% of the forecasted first half 2025 average daily production of Two Million, Sixty-Six Thousand, Nine Hundred and Forty Barrels (2,066,940 Bopd). However, it will be recalled that in October 2024, NUPRC launched Project 1 million Barrels which is expected to favourably impact the national production. NUPRC is leveraging the capacity of upstream operators to meet the target daily production of Two Million, Five Hundred Thousand Barrels (2,500,000 Bopd) in the short term.

This strategic initiative aligns with Nigeria's commitment to bolstering its domestic refining capacity and ensuring the sustainability of its oil industry. The first half of 2025 is expected to witness increased synergy between local refineries and producing companies, setting the stage for a more robust and self-reliant petroleum landscape in Nigeria.
